THE BANK JOB

You've always been able to bank on Ariel House. Back in the day of brown corduroy and Ford Capris, this place was the business. The former home of TSB Bank, it took care of your money. And nothing's changed. Today Elevate Property Group are once again making it a place to put your money into, restylin' this original 1970s four storey landmark into 57 cool new one and two bed apartments that won't break the bank. So if you're a newcomer to the property market and you fancy your own stylish pad then check this joint out.

SAFE AS HOUSES

The best places to live are those that people feel invested in. So what could be better than an old bank? The code? It's 2136 to be exact, on the Coventry Rd, Sheldon. If you've been east of the city centre to Birmingham International Airport then you'll have passed Ariel House with its white window-lined facade and 'boxy' architecture. Standing like a homage to 70s modernism, this is a building that's very much in tune with its heritage. You could say it's been round the block a bit. But it's hip to be square right?

All the checks and balances in place. It's the real deal this. You really will be laughing all the way to the bank.

THE LOOK OUT

Sheldon, is taking off in more ways than one. Perfectly situated, it's close enough to central Birmingham to make you feel in touch with the cool things the city's got a reputation for, it's also a short ride away from BHX, Birmingham International Airport and train station. That's fly! This House is also home to flavours from all over the globe and crank up the amps at Resorts World leisure complex. There's loads of the green open space too, Sheldon Country Park could be your new neighbour. Surely you can dig that?

Rev up the engine...

This is a story that travels far. Since 1939, BHX, Birmingham's main International Airport has operated from here. Whilst the iconic Landrover Jaguar brand has been based locally since the 1960's continuing the fine British motoring tradition the area is world famous for.
